EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The joint effort by Oxford University and AstraZeneca to develop a vaccine to combat COVID-19 crossed a milestone with the announcement on Monday that it is 70% effective in trials. The update on this vaccine, along with the progress of two other vaccines being developed by Pfizer and Moderna, are encouraging in the backdrop of a surge in infections following the festival season. India cannot afford another lockdown. Therefore, the next phase in the battle should focus on vaccination. There are about 50 candidate vaccines undergoing trials, based on four technology platforms. Given the differences in the distribution infrastructure needed and the consequent impact on costs, we need more than one vaccine and multiple pathways to access them. The Government also needs to prioritise the beneficiaries as there won't be enough to go around as soon as a vaccine receives regulatory approval. The UK, for instance, has disclosed a priority list and placed care homes at the top based on vulnerability. India needs something similar as not everyone is exposed to the same level of risk. COVID-19 levels differences; everyone is potentially a spreader. Therefore, it makes sense to prepare for both a free vaccination drive as well as one that is market linked. The quicker people get vaccinated, the better it will be for the process of economic recovery. The Government, with its ability to buy in large quantities, can lower costs for subsequent distribution. A combination of free vaccination along with a reduction in costs through bulk purchases can cover a substantial section of the population. Imports should also be allowed from the beginning as it will start lowering the overall risk of spread of COVID-19. The priority must be to cover the largest number in the shortest time. Money on vaccines is money well spent, since it'll speed up an economic rebound. — In The Times of India

Japanese woman hasn't cut her hair in 15 years

Tokyo: Rin Kambe of Tokyo has been dubbed the Japanese Rapunzel because of her nearly 6-feet-long mane, which she hasn't cut in 15 years.

The 35-year-old was never allowed to grow her hair as a child. She was on the girl's football team so had to keep it short, but when she became an adult, she decided to take control of her hair and use it as a "weapon of expression".

The last time she cut her hair was 15 years ago and now her straight, black locks measure 5ft 10 inches, a good 4 inches more than Rin herself. Although her hair sometimes gets in the way when doing the simplest of tasks, like changing her clothes, the Japanese dancer and model said that she loves her long mane, adding that it encapsulates the "beauty of Asia".

Artist uses her eyes as canvas for tiny masterpieces

Tel Aviv: Tal Peleg is an experienced makeup artist who goes beyond the usual tricks of the trade to create beautiful artworks in the space between her eyebrows and her eyes.

The talented makeup artist uses both standard makeup and watercolors to create all sorts of intricate scenes – from iconic film or cartoon scenes, to original designs – on her own eyes, using very thin paint brushes.

The 34-year-old artist takes between 1.5 hours and 4.5 hours (2.5 hours on average) to complete on of her amazing eye artworks, depending on the level of complexity.

Tal started posting her tiny eye artworks on her blog a few years back and got a great response, today she has over 200,000 fans on Instagram alone.

Special voter list revision: Set right discrepancies

Sir,

Apropos the report on special voter list revision in SOM dated Nov. 21, I wish to bring to light the following to the attention of the authorities concerned and people's representatives. I am doing so after considerable struggle for the last 20 months ever since my name was deleted from the voters list for no reason whatsoever just a month before the last Lok Sabha elections.

1. The search engine provided at https://www.nvsp.in has two options to search if a name is included in the voters list or not — by filling the details asked in the first option or by entering the EPIC number. If any one has just applied for inclusion and wants to check if the name has been included, one has to choose only the first option since the EPIC number is yet to be known.

2. I found that this option does not work consistently in synchronisation with EPIC number (second option). I checked this with respect to my family member whose EPIC is known. By filling the details as per the first option, it returned a zero result. But if the second option is exercised, it returns a positive result showing the entry details in the voters list.

3. This discrepancy needs to be looked into and set right by taking it seriously. There is no way a person who has applied for inclusion, revision of constituency, etc., would know the EPIC number to search with the second option.

4. Even after all the struggle (a long drawn, as per my own experience) to get one's name enrolled in the list one is not sure if the same is not removed, deleted, etc., just a few weeks before election, as it happened in my case. There should be some authority to approve a deletion and that authority should be made public to be held responsible for wrong deletion.

5. SMS intimation of successful inclusion of name in the voters list must be put to use as also any discrepancy in the application, which might be reason for non-inclusion. Similarly, if an existing entry is going to be removed, SMS must be sent to the voter before actual removal so that the voter has an opportunity to seek redressal.

Trust the above issues along with many more which make the innocent public to go from pillar to pillar during election time are gone into detail and fix the loopholes.

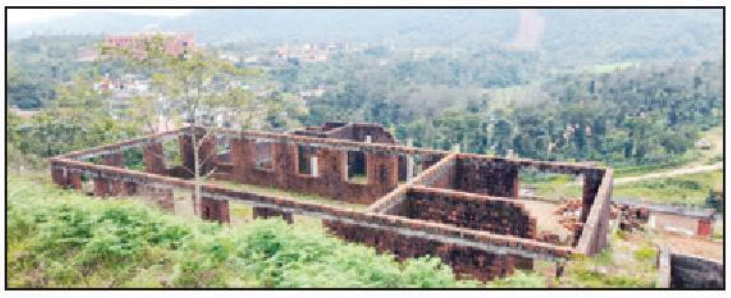
Kodava Heritage Centre

Former Minister appeals Govt. to transfer funds to Kodava Federation

M.C. Nanaiah



Madikeri, Nov.26- With the works on the ambitious Kodava Heritage Centre coming up near Madikeri going on at a snail's pace, former Minister M.C. Nanaiah has urged the Government to stop spending more money on the Heritage Centre construction works and to transfer the sanctioned funds to Federation of Kodava Samajas (a 31-member body) at Balugodu in Virajpet taluk or to entrust the monitoring works to Madikeri Kodava Samaja.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Nanaiah said that former IAS Officer Rathi Vinay Jha, a native of Kodagu, who was a top officer with the Union Ministry of Tourism, implemented Kodava Heritage Centre project by sanctioning initial funds. But the works failed to gain pace and had not been completed even after spending crores of rupees, he said.

Noting that more money was needed for the completion of the project, he wondered why the works have remained incomplete for as long as 15 years even after so much of spending.

Nanaiah lamented that only two small structures have come up at the site, which is utterly disappointing.

Asking the Government, district administration and the Tourism Department to have a relook at the works, he observed that the project can be completed only if the works are monitored by Madikeri Kodava Samaja.

Asserting that he had made this suggestion to the Government 15 years ago when the project was started, the former Minister urged the Government to also sanction funds for future developmental, expansion and maintenance works.

Highlighting that the Kodava Heritage Centre is exclusively meant for portraying Kodava practices and customs, culture, dress, armoury, marriages, festivals and the like, he said that it is more apt that Kodava Samaja run the centre, rather than the Government or Tourism Department.

DC Rohini Sindhuri and Hunsur MLA Manjunath lock horns

No letter received from MLA except one seeking land conversion in Mysuru

Mysuru, Nov.26 (SSV)- Deputy Commissioner Rohini Sindhuri and Hunsur Congress MLA H.P. Manjunath have locked horns with both launching salvo against each other.

It all started in the recently held KDP meeting presided over by Co-operation and District Minister S.T. Somashekar, when Manjunath accused the DC of not answering to his telephone calls and also not clearing projects pertaining to development of Hunsur taluk. Not stopping here, the MLA had advised Rohini not to act as the 'third Maharani' of Mysuru since there are two 'Maharanis.' He also accused her of breaching protocol by not inviting him for the flagging off 'Gajapayana' at Veeranahosahalli which comes in his Constituency.

Though she kept mum, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha and Minister Somashekar not only defended her in the open meeting but also refuted allegations of 'neglecting' his Constituency just to please the ruling BJP.

Two days after the meeting, Rohini Sindhuri has come out with a strong rebuttal to every allegation levelled against her by the MLA. She said it was not wise on his part to make such statements in the open meeting.

Rohini Sindhuri H.P. Manjunath

Reacting to Manjunath's charges that she does not respond to his memorandums and letters, the DC, in a letter to MLA Manjunath, has said "I assumed charge on Oct. 1 and since then I have not received any letter pertaining to development of your Constituency. However, what I have received is an application in your name seeking land conversion for 21 Survey numbers in Kergalli village, Jayapura hobli of Mysuru district. Documents such as High Court order dated Sept. 14, 2020 and files concerning land conversion are being looked into from legal angles. Measures will be taken to dispose of files as per law."

With this, she has brought to light that the MLA had submitted application only for land conversion and not for development works in Hunsur taluk.

For not extending invitation to Gajapayana, Rohini said "Dasara High Power Committee meeting presided over by Chief Minister B.S.Yediyurappa on Sept. 8 decided to celebrate Dasara in simple and traditional manner. I was advised to form District-level Executive Committee to chalk-out programmes for Gajapayana event too. The Sept. 12 meeting authorised the district-level officials to hold Gajapayana event by not inviting any elected representative. So, the Gajapayana was held on Oct. 1 after offering puja to Dasara elephants. Since it was the decision of District-level Executive Committee, there has been no breach of protocol."

The DC has said "after taking charge, I had visited the Office of Assistant Commissioner of Hunsur taluk, Taluk Office, Taluk Hospital and COVID Care Centre and also held review meeting. Upon enquiring about you, I was informed that you are not keeping well. For this reason, I was unable to discuss development of Hunsur with you (MLA)", she added.

Design uniform for Safaimitras, win Rs.10,000

Why the competition?

An Engineer of the MCC UGD Division told Star of Mysore that the Government of India conceived the idea of designing a common uniform for all Safaimitras across the country and christened it as 'Safaimitra Suraksha Challenge.' The initiative was announced on Nov. 19 which happened to be World Toilet Day.

The Department concerned wrote to all the Urban Local Bodies (ULBs) to hold a contest for designing uniform for Safaimitras and the best costume design will be made applicable throughout the country.

Besides, the Government of India has announced a special fund of Rs.12 crore for that ULB whose design will bag first prize. The second prize will carry a cash prize of Rs.9 crore.

She said the motto of the Union Government has been 'One Nation - One Uniform.' The MCC has been asked to present its design of uniform dress on Dec.5. Lot of specifications had been given for the enthusiastic fashion designers to craft the suitable uniform. The prize-winning costume design will be announced on Aug.15, 2021 on the occasion of Independence Day. Then, that costume will be made mandatory for all Safaimitras of all ULBs across the country.

According to the MCC Officer, as per the Central Government guidelines, it was mandatory for the Corporation to provide the khaki uniform, face mask, gumboots, goggles and disposable hand gloves. However, they prefer using the rubber gloves because they find it comfortable in handling machinery and cleaning equipment. The MCC has to provide them with disposable gloves but it has not been possible owing to financial crunch.

How will MCC spend Rs.12 crore, if it wins contest

The Officer said the MCC will spend the winning amount on buying jetting and rodding machines and the purchase of other safety gadgets for Safaimitras. Unfortunately, UGD Division did not have any special allocation of funds as it is merged with Drinking Water Division.

In Mysuru, there is a need to upgrade UGD system following increase in load due to rise in population. Expenditure is increased on sewage treatment and bio-culture treatment. So, the MCC collects nominal charges for the removal of choked UGD connection as fixed by the State Government in 2011. Of the total amount collected, 60 per cent goes to Drinking Water Division and 40 per cent to the UGD Division.

'Your probe must make Courts to punish criminals'

DG&IGP Praveen Sood reviews progress of criminal case investigations in city

DG&IGP Praveen Sood holding a review meeting of criminal case investigations taken up by City Police at the Office of Police Commissioner in Nazarbad yesterday.

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (RK&SSV)- Director General and Inspector General of Police (DG&IGP) Praveen Sood has advised the Mysuru City Police to investigate in such a manner that the real accused get punishment from Courts.

Chairing a meeting to review the progress of investigation of criminal cases in city at the Office of Police Commissioner in Nazarbad here yesterday, he said that the job of Police does not end just by filing First Information Report (FIR).

They must investigate the cases in such a manner that the criminals do not escape punishment. It was possible to produce evidences before the Court only if they reach the crime spot immediately. Job of the Investigating Officer (IO) was to discharge his duty impartially without fear or favour. Through this, it would be possible to convince Judges about the crime committed by persons.

The DG&IGP asked the Police personnel to work efficiently and win confidence of people. This would bring good name not only to the Police Department but also to the State Government.

"You must take serious note of sale of narcotics, caste abuse, atrocities on women and children, missing children and adults. Your behaviour must not pose problems for general public," he said.

National Emergency Integration: Sood said Police Control Room Number 100 and Fire Services Number 101 will be soon amalgamated and they would come out with a new National Emergency Integration number (112). The citizens should be informed about the change in number of two important services, he added.

City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta, Deputy Commissioners of Police (DCPs) Dr. A.N. Prakash Gowda and Geetha Prasanna, all Assistant Commissioners of Police (ACPs), all Police Inspectors attended the review meeting.

Now add '0' to dial mobile phone number from landline

New Delhi, Nov. 26- The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) has released its latest recommendations for developing a 'Unified Numbering Plan' to ensure adequate numbering resources for fixed line (landline) and mobile services in the country.

This will lead to the current phone numbers changing — existing mobile numbers will require a "0" in front of them to dial from a fixed line connection.

These recommendations are based on the inputs received from various stakeholders and discussions held during an Open House Discussion (OHD) that was held in January, the regulator said in a statement.

One of the key points mentioned in the recommendations include switching from 10 to 11 digits in case of regular mobile numbers, which will lead to the addition of a zero for existing numbers and new phone numbers could start with different digits going forward.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Sarna, the Harappan Tree Goddess

One of the things in the about 4,000-year-old Harappan seals is the value placed on trees. There is the peepal tree and the babool (acacia) tree that have been identified. The peepal tree is identified by its characteristic wide tapering leaves. The babool tree is identified by its peculiar branch patterns and its thorns. It is clear that these two plants were important to the Harappan civilisation.

There are images of these trees located within an enclosure and worshipped. There are images of Goddesses emerging from these trees. There are images of men with plumes or twigs in their head. Some are wearing bison horns, venerating the tree Goddess. They are making offerings to her. The offerings sometimes appear as sacrifices to her (either animal or human, we cannot be sure). But, what is clear is that trees were revered in the Harappan civilisation.

One seal shows the reason why this may be important. There is an image of a tiger looking back at a man who is seated on top of a tree. So, by hiding on top of the tree, the man saves himself from the tiger. This could be the reason why the tree, or the sacred orchard of thorny trees, then become the refuge of man from the wild tiger. Therefore, it is associated with the Mother Goddess.

This belief of sacred groves and their branches and thorns protecting humans from wild animals is featured a lot in contemporary tribal mythology too. Amongst Mundas, there is a story of a man who hid in a grove and was saved from a lion. The practice of worshipping trees continues across India in many communities even today.

Many tribes have sacred groves with trees like the Sal, the Mahua, the Neem and the Banyan that no one is allowed to encroach. The logical explanation for the existence of these sacred groves is that they maintained the biodiversity of the land. The farming communities do not encroach on this particular stretch of property. The sacred grove is called Sarna-sthals among Bhils.

It is said that the Goddess resides on sacred trees, or in sacred orchards, and plays on the swing with her companions. Men who enter this grove, become women. Male animals became female animals. A horse turns into a mare; a lion into a lioness. Therefore, one must stay away from it.

Many communities in Jharkhand, for example, are demanding that "Sarnaism" or worship of trees and sacred groves be distinguished from the overarching all-absorbing framework of Hinduism.

Vedic scriptures also refer to the trees from the Indian subcontinent such as the peepal tree, the banyan tree and the babool tree. This is a reminder that the Vedic hymns were composed in India. Since the culture came after the collapse of the Harappan civilisation, it shows the hymns were the result of the mixing of immigrating Indo-Aryans with residents of the earlier Harappan cities. Therefore, memories of Harappa are bound to be located in the Vedic hymns. This memory manifests in the celebration of native flora.

Tourist spot Dubare to get 110-metre-long hanging bridge

Cauvery River at Dubare where boats are used to cross from one side of river to the other.

Kushalnagar, Nov. 26 (Akshay&BCT)- The tourist spot of Dubare in Kodagu district, famed for its elephant camp and a wide and turbulent River Cauvery, will soon get a hanging bridge. The suspension bridge will be 110 metres in length and will have a width of 1.8 metres.

The proposal has been submitted by the Kodagu Tourism Department to the Forest Department and is awaiting approval from the Governing Body of the Forest Department. Thousands of tourists visit Dubare every year and a long hanging bridge that connects one side of the river to the other will be an added attraction.

River Cauvery flows in full force here and the two sides can only be accessed by motorised boats at present. While one side of the river bank is controlled by the Tourism Department, the other by Forest Department that runs an elephant camp there, popular as Dubare Elephant Camp where tourists can get a close-quarter glimpse of forest life of mahouts and kavadis along with the elephants. Wild elephants are also captured and tamed in the elephant camp.

The proposed hanging bridge will have three columns — two at the sides and one in the middle — as it is 1.8 metres wide. Other hanging bridges usually have only two columns.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Assistant Director of Kodagu Tourism Department Raghavendra said that the hanging bridge will enhance the beauty of the place and attract more tourists.

"At present, people have to use motorised boats to cross from one side to another and at times it is risky as accidents do occur due to the turbulent river. Also, there is a long line of tourists for boating tickets every day. With the hanging bridge, tourists can smoothly transit from one side to the other," he said.

The Tourism Department first sent a proposal of hanging bridge in 2015-2016 and the estimated cost was Rs. 2.35 crore. The estimate has now been revised to Rs. 4 crore. "The money will be sanctioned by us while the work will have to be undertaken and supervised by the Forest Department. We hope that the Governing Body of the Forest Department will accord speedy permission," he said and added that the Tourism Department has already earmarked Rs. 1 crore for the project.

Apart from facilitating tourists to cross over from one side to other, the hanging bridge will be of great help to over 30 families of mahouts and kavadis and their children who go to school and also for medical help. At present, they have to either depend on boats or take a roundabout route after crossing the river at a particular point where the water currents are low.

For children, even the low tide is risky and they solely depend on boats before and after school hours. The hanging bridge will be a boon to them and it will also eliminate pollution including oil leaks caused by motorised boats.

In 2019, the jury board headed by ace filmmaker Aparna Sen picked 'Gully Boy' by Zoya Akhtar as India's Official Entry for the 2020 Oscars. Eventually, India still has to win its first honour in the category.

Jallikattu: The 2019 action drama has been directed by Lijo Jose Pellissery with a screenplay by S. Hareesh and R. Jayakumar. It is based on the short story named Maoist by Hareesh. The film stars Antony Varghese, Chemban Vinod Jose, Sabumon Abdusamad and Santhy Balachandran.

The story revolves around a buffalo that flees from a slaughterhouse in a remote hill town of Kerala, and how the entire townsfolk end up in its hunt. As the hapless animal runs riot in the town, the plot brings alive the vicious side of humanity.

WORD OF THE DAY

Libertine

Pronunciation: LIB-er-teen.
Meaning: Disparaging : a freethinker especially in religious matters; a person who is unrestrained by convention or morality; specifically : one leading a dissolute life.
Origin: "I only ask to be free," says Mr. Skimpole in Charles Dickens' Bleak House, and his words would undoubtedly have appealed to the world's first libertines. The word libertinus was used in early writings of Roman antiquity to describe a slave who had been set free (the Roman term for an emancipated slave was the Latin libertus). The "freedman" sense of libertine was extended to freethinkers, both religious and secular, and later came to imply that an individual was a little too unrestrained, especially in moral situations. The Latin root of libertine is liber, the ultimate source of our word liberty.
Example: "Thus am I crushed between the upper millstone of the Mr Redford, who thinks me a libertine, and the nether popular critic, who thinks me a prude." — George Bernard Shaw, Mrs. Warren's Profession, 1902.

THE ODD WORD

Lactifluous

Flowing with milk.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Let her rip

Meaning: If someone says "let her rip," it usually means to go faster, to speed up. The "her" in this case typically refers to a vehicle, like a boat or car.
Origin: Who is the "her" in this phrase and what is she "ripping"? Is it a woman tearing a piece of paper in half? Let's take a closer look at these two words and see what they mean within the context of this expression. The word "her" is sometimes used in connection with vehicles or machinery (example, someone might call their car a she or her). On the other hand, the word "rip" is sometimes used in relation to speed (example, someone might say they ripped through the water in their new motor boat). So basically, the word "her" in this phrase generally refers to a vehicle, and the word "rip" means to make said vehicle go faster. Now, then, how old is this phrase? The oldest example one could find of it with its "go faster" meaning is from a book titled Out West, published in the year 1910: "Git up more steam–this ain't a funeral! Let her rip! Don't mind the speed limit! Keep the whistle going!"

Greg Barclay elected as ICC Chairman

Dubai, Nov. 26- Greg Barclay has been named the new independent Chair of the International Cricket Council (ICC), beating Imran Khwaja to succeed Shashank Manohar, the sport's governing body announced on Tuesday.

Greg Barclay

The former New Zealand Cricket boss needed a two-thirds majority of the 16-person ICC Board and received the all-important 11th vote from Cricket South Africa. Khwaja had been the Interim Chairman since Manohar stepped down in July.

"It is an honour to be elected as the Chair of the International Cricket Council and I would like to thank my fellow ICC Directors for their support," Barclay said in an ICC statement.

"I hope we can come together to lead the sport and emerge from the global pandemic in a strong position and poised for growth."

Barclay has said he will push to protect bi-lateral international series and his election could end plans for an extra ICC global event, an idea backed by Khwaja.

Margao, Nov. 26- Mumbai City FC secured their first win of ISL 2020-21 after beating FC Goa 1-0 at the Fatorda Stadium on Wednesday. Goa began well but found themselves on the back foot after Redeem Tlang was sent off for a dangerous tackle towards the end of the first half. Mumbai pushed for a winner throughout the second period and had to wait till injury time for Adam le Fondre to score the winner from the penalty spot.

Goa continued to dominate possession as the half progressed but couldn't create any openings. Argentina football legend Diego Maradona passes away

Diego Maradona

Buenos Aires, Nov. 26 (UNI)- Football lost one of its most shining stars on Wednesday as Argentinian legend Diego Maradona bid adieu to the world, after suffering a heart attack.

The 60-year-old, considered one of the greatest footballers of all times, had recently battled health issues and underwent an emergency surgery for subdural hematoma several weeks ago.

He suffered a heart attack at his home in the outskirts of this cosmopolitan capital city, Argentinian media and lawyer of the former player confirmed.

Maradona was captain when Argentina won the 1986 World Cup, scoring the famous 'Hand of God' goal against England in the quarter-finals.

He scored 34 goals in 91 appearances for Argentina, representing them in four World Cups.

One of the most gifted soccer players in history, Maradona played for Barcelona and Napoli during his club career, winning two Serie A titles with Italian side.

*FILE PHOTO: Diego Maradona holds up his team's trophy after Argentina's 3-2 victory over West Germany at the 1986 World Cup final.

Declaring three days of national mourning, Alberto Fernandez, President of Argentina, said "You took us to the top of the world. You made us immensely happy. You were the greatest of them all. Thank you for having existed, Diego. We're going to miss you all our lives."

The Argentinian World Cup player led his country to the 1990 final in Italy, where they were beaten by West Germany, before captaining them again in the United States in 1994, but was sent home after failing a drugs test for ephedrine.

During the second half of his career, Maradona struggled with cocaine addiction and was banned for 15 months after testing positive for the drug in 1991.

He retired from professional football in 1997, on his 37th birthday, during his second stint at Argentine giants Boca Juniors.
